

Our Trustees (left to right): Carrie Morgan, Tony Kuhl, Charlotte Rathbone, Martin Wright, Elizabeth Seward, Williem Lang, Deniel Clobes

been placed in one of the alcoves in the main in driftwood by Heather Jansch which has

Financials

Garden volunteers Archive volunteers

 Conservation volunteers Open Day volunteers

£28,700 Heritage Lottery Fund grant. £66,531 Higher Level Stewardship grant. £5,047 various donations received, including bursaries, to support the work of The Trust

EOY p Total i Total e Total f Volun Invest Charit Invest Cost o Govern

f PSharphamTrust Charity No. 285767 Company No. 1659601

www.sharphamtrust.org

Ashprington, Totnes, Devon, TQ9 7UT 01803 732542 • bookings@sharphamtrust.org

Headline Figures
period	Mar-16	Mar-17
income	0.759m	0.907m
expenditure	0.770m	0.916m
funds	5.787m	6.260m
ntary income	0.003m	0.129m
tment income	0.131m	0.131m
ty activity income	0.648m	0.770m
tment management costs	0.019m	0.020m of charitable activities	0.734m	0.993m
rnance	0.015m	0.017m
	1 00/	1 09/

£29,617 From The Clare Milne Trust for the installation of the disabled bathroom.

Donations and grants

Barn Retreat volunteer coordinators

	730 hours
	1,000 hours
	348 hours
	363 hours
tors	6,240 hours

The Trust would also like to acknowledge and thank all those who have contributed 8681 volunteer hours to the charitable organisation during this reporting period, including:

commissioned a sculpture of a horse's head In memory of Carrie, Trustees have

Trust Director

Julian Carnell

House stairwell.

AC E A TATAT 1 M 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1

William Lana, Daniel Stokes.

......

are hoping to escape some of people coming to Sharpham the increasing numbers of world it can appear that apt than ever. To the outside interesting times' is more The comment we live in better in the everyday world and to discover and insights that enable people to cope pressures of daily life but to offer approaches Our aim is not just to be a refuge from the sənssi əsəqt

Director's Report

.su to Ils rot bus. ways they might effect change for themselves spending time in the natural world. of the benefits of coming to the Estate and challenges and how many of them speak struck by how many are dealing with similar and profession, when I speak to them I am every year vary widely in their geography Although the people who come to Sharpham the hard work of our staff, our teachers and overwhelmingly positive. This is a tribute to have been busier and the feedback has been courses and retreats we offer. Once again we In the last year we have increased the loss of one of our long-standing Trustees Last November we were saddened by the beneficiaries depend. our volunteers on whom Sharpham and our Meadow Natural Burial Ground, where she mshqrsh was that she'd be buried at Sharpham dedicated involvement with all of us. Her proud that she was a Trustee and for her her Sharpham family. We're so grateful and her bright being will be missed sorely by Carrie's clarity of thought, her kindness and "finance accessible to those who can benefit projects which make the joys of being with was "interested in progressing ideas and canoeing and walking and (in her words) Carrie Morgan. She loved horse riding, had chosen a plot.

Our Vision, Purpose

and Principles

noisiV ruO

environmentally-sustainable world. compassionate and To create a more mindful,

noissiM nuO

secure income base

Sharpham Estate

sgniblind

esvitosidO

its activities.

and enquity

4. To operate a balanced budget with a approaches to managing the land and educational activities based on a sense demonstration of these principles in all

The Trust aspires to be a living of stillness and awareness a belief in learning through 🔳 an understanding of the səlqiənir4 ru0

an acknowledgement of the value ехрегіепсе, сгеатіче епgagement a deep respect for the natural world interconnectedness of all life

The Trust's activities are guided by planning of activities and projects.

guiding principles and these act as a moral and creative compass in the

3. To promote greater access to the of Sharpham as a special place

1. To develop a range of innovative

2. To demonstrate sustainable

Chair of the Trust pup7 upjlliW

With kind regards, stronger for it.

board and get involved!

meaningful place. You are invited to jump on

The Sharpham Estate today is a vibrant and will always be with us and that the Trust is who is missed and remembered. But I am on here, we lost a thoughtful and dynamic the public. As our Director Julian reflects participants, partners, and members of from the wonderful staff, volunteers and I would like to thank everyone who has and to do so with greater understanding.

create positive ripples of change around us other, and the planet we are more able to through connection with ourselves, each only because it is worthwhile but because natural world. We have this objective not

Our mission is to connect people to the

"meaningful moments", and "important we receive from people who experience is the generous and positive feedback

Sharpham ... "life changing", "amazing food", such recognition, but even more wonderful place to go on retreat in the UK by the Daily for the courses, open days and events which partially because we are excited by the thirst

Chairman's Introduction

Partially we are egged on highlights, and stories herein.

has been a full one as you will what happens on it. This year in the Sharpham Estate and Thank you for your interest

Annual Report 2016-2017

see from the various reports, py the pressing challenges of our time and Telegraph. It is lovely, of course, to have

During the year we were voted the best

We offer every season.

work" all get regularly mentioned.

contributed to Sharpham during the year,

Trustees to the curious and generous

Trustee, Carrie Morgan during the year confident her voice for inclusion and warmth

-WW

To connect people with nature and foster mindfulness and wellbeing.

The Trust works to a strong set of

Mindfulness Courses and Retreats

Mindfulness lies at the heart of the Trust's charitable activities and is the foundation on which our approach to caring for the land and each other is based. Sharpham has an involvement with mindfulness, meditation and creative enquiry stretching back over 30 years from the founding of the charity by Maurice and Ruth Ash. We are a leading centre nationally for mindfulness offering a rich, varied and authentic programme of retreats and courses with different doorways to learning about and experiencing mindful awareness. Our programme includes opportunities for those new to mindfulness, as well as those looking to reconnect with or deepen their practice in a welcoming, safe and nonjudgmental setting. Last year a record 1,477 people benefited from Sharpham mindfulness retreats and courses.

Sharpham House Retreats

Our programme of retreats in Sharpham House has become well established and in this reporting year we have held a total of 44 retreats attended by 594 participants. Our programme of Sharpham House retreats includes 3-night Mindfulness for Beginners retreats, 5-night Taking Mindfulness Deeper retreats and themed retreats such as yoga, walking and creative enquiry.

"One of the most beautiful, nurturing and life-affirming opportunities that I have given myself and shared with others" Participant on our

Sustaining Ourselves retreat

This year we were delighted to re-launch our Sustaining Ourselves Through Mindfulness retreats, targeted towards people experiencing stress and burn-out. Thanks to the generous support of a donor we were able to apply 8 bursary spaces on each retreat.

In addition, in this financial year we awarded 40 bursary places totalling £6,499 to those experiencing financial hardship and who otherwise would not have been able to attend.

Good reviews for Sharpham retreats

We were nominated in the Retreats & Healing section of a contest staged by national magazine Kindred Spirit. We also featured as Number 1 in The Daily Telegraph's list of '10 Holidays that will make you a better person' and on a list of some of the world's best places for a 'digital detox' on worldwide travel blog TravelSuper. The Daily Telegraph

The Barn was published in a 'readers recommend' column in The Guardian, described as 'warm, comfortable and fulfilling'.

Woodland Retreats

Now in their second full year, our seasonal Woodland Retreats offer a chance to focus on mindfulness and nature connection whilst staying under canvas in our woodland campsite. Feedback from participants has been overwhelmingly positive, and these retreats tend to attract a younger and more diverse crowd. This year 80 people took part in our Woodland Retreats and the site has great potential for further development.

"I arrived frazzled and stressed by modern day life and I left soothed and calmed by nature and reconnected to my body and heart" Participant on a Woodland Retreat

Our programme of mindfulness courses remains popular with good take-up. Over the past year we delivered 23 separate mindfulness courses to 304 participants - an increase on the previous year.

Our courses vary in length and style to enable as many people to benefit as possible. Courses for this year have included our popular 8-week Mindfulness for Health and Wellbeing, as well as our Introduction to Mindfulness days and taster sessions. Courses are run across three locations including Sharpham, Totnes and Torbay and are delivered by trained and experienced mindfulness teachers.

The Barn Retreat Centre

The Barn's key purpose is to teach and support the development of mindfulness practice in everyday life, supported by Buddhist meditation methods. It is also a place where people reconnect with themselves and nature in a tranquil, supportive environment.

Ten participants stay at The Barn each week, supported by three residential volunteer coordinators and a nonresidential part-time manager. This year 542 people stayed at The Barn, some for extended periods.

We ran 51 retreats during the year, including five retreats with residential teachers and a work retreat. All 51 retreats had a waiting list ranging in number from one to 48. In order to increase our accessibility to those unable to pay our full cost, we gave a reduction of fees to 47 people during the year, totalling £4705 in financial assistance.

The Barn provides teaching about and experience in meditation, the opportunity to live in community and to connect with the land through gardening each day. Many people have restful and transformational experiences while on retreat at The Barn.

"As life's pace increases, I feel it is more important than ever to afford ourselves times in which we can step into a much more mindful, reflective, and nurturing space to reconnect. I can't think of a better place in which to do just that than The Barn Retreat. My week here was very profound." Participant at The Barn

The past fiscal year at The Barn saw long term non-residential manager Peter Mallard retire, and Tasha Bassingthwaighte take over in his place. The transition was a smooth one, thanks to Dino Costa stepping in, and Tasha has been enjoying the experience of being at The Barn.

There are also three residential coordinators who live at The Barn for a year and guide the participants. Jess, Milton, Natasha, Caroline, Nina, Craig and Lynette were all coordinators during this past vear.

Arts and Heritage

Discovering Sharpham Project

, heritage lottery fund from the Heritage

LOTTERY FUNDED for the Discovering Sharpham project, which aims to boost volunteering opportunities across the Estate. The funding has been supporting volunteers in carrying out vital conservation tasks and the restoration of our parkland and gardens, as well as 5 school visits to the Estate from local schools and a number of other

We were delighted to be awarded £57,400

Lottery Fund (HLF)

As part of this project we commissioned artist Peter Lanyon to design and build a large green oak bench with the help of volunteers. Volunteers worked outdoors with traditional wood-working tools under the expert tuition of Peter. There was an end-of project celebration and the group helped install the bench at a beautiful spot for all to enjoy: along the Carriage Drive between Sharpham House and Totnes.

Heritage Group

heritage-based events.

The Heritage Group has continued to work hard developing, researching and cataloguing the Estate archive. The archive volunteer group is continuing to grow, with an extra volunteer day on Thursday to accommodate the increased numbers to a record of 12.

The group is actively involved in researching many different aspects of Sharpham's history including the different families who have owned the Estate: one volunteer working in the Devon Heritage Centre found himself sitting at a table with a descendant of the Lyde family (previously omitted from our chronology). Successes include hosting House tours on our Summer Open Day, sharing our rich history with the public via talks and displays.

All three farms at Sharpham are part of the Higher Level Stewardship scheme with the aim of improving conditions for wildlife, enhancing the landscape and protecting the historic environment. Efforts this year have included the rebuilding of the dam that was constructed at the same time as the Bathing House which - like the main House was designed by Robert Taylor around 1765.

Local stone-waller Gary Grover dismantled and rebuilt about 100m of the dam. At the same time large excavators cleared out the Withy Pool behind the dam which had become silted up over many years. As a result the pool is now recognisable as a small lake which is one of the features of the 18th century parkland landscape created at the same time as the House was built. If you stand on the dam you can now see the House reflected in the lake. Thanks to Natural England for funding these capital works together with a grant of £20,000 from the Trust's own funds.

After years of effort we were finally successful in being awarded a £57,000 grant from the Heritage Lottery Fund for the two-year Discovering Sharpha project. This aims to raise awareness of our magnificent heritage through lunteering, events and heritage

Fundraising

This year saw the next step in our House renovations with the reconnection of the South Wing to the main House which has added three furbished bedrooms and two new athrooms to our offer.

Thanks to a £29,000 grant from the Clare Milne Trust, we were able to create an accessible bedroom and bathroom on the ground floor of the House, enabling us to offer the best possible accessible facilities in a listed 8th century building.

We also benefited from some £90,000 of funding through Natural England towards the restoration of the Withy Pool, Dam and South Quay.

Our Gardens

The Trust benefits from two productive kitchen gardens: one in the walled garden behind Sharpham House and one at The Barn Retreat Centre. Both gardens benefit hugely from volunteers and all the produce goes to supply the kitchens catering for our participants. At The Barn, working in the gardens is an integral part of the weekly retreat structure and participants also prepare their own meals using the produce.

As well as the walled kitchen garden, Sharpham House has ornamental and woodland gardens and volunteers help our gardeners Jesse and Luca care for these every Tuesday throughout the year. They also help look after our orchards from which the apples are collected and pressed on Apple Day in October.

In the last year we have enlisted the help of Penny Hammond - an ex-National Trust Head Gardener - to help us review our management of the gardens and make a plan for their ongoing care. Penny has been working with our gardener Jesse and our apprentices to implement these plans. As well as the ornamental and woodland gardens we are focused on producing more vegetables and fruit from our walled kitchen garden for use in the House kitchens

We continue to have a committed group of people who volunteer in our gardens who make a real difference and enjoy the physical and social benefits of working together outdoors in a beautiful environment.

Higher Level Stewardship

www.sharphamtrust.org

Subscribe to our monthly newsletter via our website to keep updated about Sharpham Trust news and events in Julv

Events & The Estate

Events, Outdoor Learning and Open Days

We have continued to deliver a diverse public programme of outdoor learning activities and events this year. Highlights have included family forage days, birdwatching events and our annual All Souls' Day event at Sharpham Meadow Natural Burial Ground (with a growing sense of community building around this special place).

Our foraging for wild medicine and food courses continue to be well attended. Visitors can reconnect to nature by learning to identify, safely pick and prepare seasonal wild foods and herbal medicine

In June we hosted the second day of 'Landscape, Language and the Sublime' in partnership with Schumacher College a multidisciplinary symposium exploring the aesthetics, philosophy and poetics of landscape. This two-day symposium drew together artists and thinkers from a wide range of disciplines to explore ways in which landscape – and the ways we represent it – connects deeply to our lives and underpins our relationship to the world.

Sharpham also worked in partnership with Play Torbay to run 'The Quest for Capability Brown – haha!" last summer. Visitors were able to interact with artists and young people in the form of an adventurous promenade quest-performance based on the rich history of Sharpham Estate. The playful performances were devised and produced by children and young people from Torbay to celebrate the 300th anniversary of the birth of Lancelot 'Capability' Brown, the famous landscape designer thought to have designed Sharpham's parkland.

The Summer Celebration Open Day included live music, workshops, storytelling, talks, tours and crafts and the House was open for the public to enjoy.

Volunteers

that offer volunteers the chance to meet new people, learn a new skill, connect with nature and get active in beautiful and inspiring surroundings. Overall Sharpham volunteers contributed 8681 hours to the Trust this year. 730 of those hours came who work alongside gardener Jesse in Day volunteers and 348 hours from our new conservation volunteer group that started in September and is run by our partners at Ambios.

Sharpham on primetime

We featured on national television when BBC show Countryfile filmed at Sharpham

The show, which pulls in around 8.6million viewers, focused on meadows and featured pieces about Sharpham Meadow Natural Burial Ground, about the wild flowers sown around Sharpham and foraging with our resident wild-food finder Brigit-Anna McNeill.

Between 700-800 people attended the event on a glorious summer day - our largest audience for an open day event to date.

Our Apple Day continues to be a popular feature of our annual calendar of events. Following a bountiful apple harvest this year, the press was put into good use, with the community bringing their own apples to turn into delicious fresh juice. Other activities on the day included Apple Olympics, storytelling, a treasure hunt and themed arts and crafts activities.

In February we ran our annual Tree Care Day for local volunteers and friends of Sharpham. This year the focus was on pruning the trees in the orchard and clearing weeds and brambles from the base of each fruit tree with help from our partners Ambios. New faces turned up to learn tree-care knowledge from our gardeners.

We continue to run weekly volunteer days by Lynette Gribble, 363 hours from Open from our Tuesday garden volunteer group our 18th century walled garden, formal or woodland gardens. Over 1,000 hours came from our archive volunteer group led Sharpham Meadow has been open for burials for four years now, and is appreciated by annual All Souls' Day ceremony around the Ancestors' Fire. The meadow was farmed bio-dynamically for the previous 20 years, so has a wellestablished flourishing and healthy the local community - especially at our

Sharpham Meadow

ecosystem, which has generously accommodated this timeless human activity As I write this looking from Sharpham

Meadow, the hilltops of the South Hams are covered with tractors, corkscrewing the stubbled fields back into rich topsoil

Here in our corner of Devon the earth is usually a deep, rich burnt auburn, staining the sheep a comic punk orange, yet on the hill that Sharpham Meadow burial ground lies, it is unusually stony and uncoloured. Possibly because it has remained untilled for generations; perhaps just a geological oddity.

Whatever the reason, it fits particularly well with the purpose it has been turned to. It looks like the earth of graves.

There is a misconception, largely created at the beginning of the Natural Death movement, that planting a tree over a grave is a generous act of ecological fertilisation, a nutritious boost that both recycles the body and feeds the tree. It is a fancy.

In fact, most trees like to fight for their nutrition, roots seeking out traces of minerals like blind worms, reaching out for the elements they need, never gorging, but acknowledging their frugality, and in doing so, sharpening their durability for the lean times.

So when we leave graves at Sharpham Meadow without a tree or a shrub planted over them, we are not only saving the view for future generations, we are giving the grassland what it needs, while allowing the bodies to quickly return to bone, to rest with the stones they so closely resemble that lie just under the turf. It is a hillside, slowly becoming what the Americans from the Deep South call a Bone Orchard.

Visitors often ask about the granite post that stands at the top of the burial field. It marks the spot where the ashes of Richard Smith lie. Richard was the farmer who farmed the hill for many years. His ashes were interred many, many years before the idea of the burial ground was even mooted. I often wonder at his amazement at what has sprung around him. His first companion was Ant Peters, the hermit of Sharpham whom Richard generously allowed to live in a caravan in his yard. A fitting pair of outsiders to begin the hill watch.

Ashes are really bones, a euphemism that does us all a disservice, for there is integrity in their impermanence. Stones and bones, ash and fire, granite and grass. All is becoming the hillside, as through the grassy mounds dart the voles and the hares, and down from the eaves of the shelter swoops the resident barn owl.

We rest, sinking into the ground, forgotten in a few generations, but for the stones that settle beside our bones. By The Green Funeral Company's

Rupert Callender

Our Tenants

Sharpham Wine & Cheese

The Sharpham Partnership's vineyard and cheese dairy have been producing wines and unpasteurised cheeses for over 30 years to local and national acclaim.

The ten-acre vineyard lies between 12m and 25m above sea-level on south-facing, well drained slopes - perfect for growing a range of carefully selected cool-climate grape varieties, from which a variety of wines were made last year. New World and traditional winemaking techniques are used.

Both the wine and cheese is made from start to finish at Sharpham, giving a flavour that reflects its unique position in the South Hams area of Devon. In the regional and national competitions, Sharpham Wines have won trophies every year since 1992 and also never failed to win an international award every time their wines have been entered.

Upper Sharpham Barton

This holding of approximately 100 acres is being farmed by David Camp who keeps cattle and sheep and is certified organic.

Lower Sharpham Barton Farm

Lower Sharpham Barton Farm is the smallest Sharpham tenancy and is run as an organic beef and sheep farm. Here Ambios and partners volunteering and work experiences for different audiences: Ambios offer residential and non-residential opportunities for people interested in nature conservation while United Response offer wellbeing services for adults with learning disabilities. Together we endeavour to manage the farm for wildlife, and people, under the banner Lower Sharpham Farm: Living, Learning and Working for Wildlife.

FARM Robert Owen Communities) provide training,

This reporting period saw a huge improvement to our working facilities with new hen house and polytunnel allowing us to improve our food production and provide activity areas year round. The hen house was again built in partnership with level 1 carpentry students from South Devon College, and is now home to our organic flock of 160 hens. The poly tunnel has provided much welcome dry winter work space allowing a winter of stone sifting and soil building in preparation for spring 2017 growing.

Improvements to our growing area by one of our long term volunteers will also increase our productivity, and we have ambition to grow or rear 50% of the food eaten at the farm.

We also delivered the first Lower Sharpham Bioblitz, a 24-hour wildlife survey aiming to record as many species as possible found on the farm. a hugely successful event saw over 60 people, and more than 450 species found.

We welcomed Andrew Ansty, taking over as United Response team leader from Andy Robinson, as well as 2 new Ambios LEMUR trainees Ellie Parker and Bryony James, both on 4 month traineeship placements. We also saw the arrival of Sam Skuse, Jack and Kate's second son, born at the farm in early April.

Finally we were pleased to reflect on our work, and crafted a new vision of the farm with the help of the many stakeholders. The main outcome of this is the priority of biodiversity in our management practice as well as the regularity, consistency and coordination of the different work programmes happening. 2017-18 will see higher occupancy and more regular residential placements, as well as a more comprehensive management plan that achieves more of our aims.

f P SharphamTrust

To book, call 01803 732542 or email bookings@sharphamtrust.org Retreats also take place from every Sunday at The Barn Retreat Centre, on Sharpham Estate f BarnRetreats